

PRIVACY POLICY

Effective May 2021

No personal data, no email addresses, no location information, no sharing or tracking, and no cookies are collected. (One exception is email addresses submitted by adults through the contact form or potential email sign-up).

Any personal information from the contact form or email sign-up is not shared, sold, rented, or otherwise disclosed to third parties.

This website has no third-party ads.

Links to various other sites, such as publications and educational references, may be included.

There may be social media buttons (e.g., Instagram, Facebook, Twitter).

Children under the age of thirteen who wish to contact me are to use a teacher's, librarian's, or parent's email address with their permission.

If this site violates COPPA (Children's Online Privacy Protection Act, 1998 and amended 2013), please send me a message on the contact form.